Farewell

There is still a fun-filled day at sea ahead of you and of course an evening of dining and entertainment on board - so the cruise is by no means over! However, as this is the final Princess Patter for this cruise, we would like to take this opportunity to say farewell and thank you! We sincerely hope that you have enjoyed your cruise onboard the magnificent Coral Princess and we look forward to welcoming you back on another Princess cruise in the near future. Captain Mariano Manfuso, the Officers and the entire Ship's Company thank you for sailing with us and we wish you all a safe onward journey!

Spotlight On...Boutiques Onboard

The Boutiques on Board are exclusively owned and operated by Princess Cruises. Our buyers shop all over the world selecting products for our discerning guests to ensure they meet the standards of quality, value and the very best price available. The Coral Princess offers a unique shopping experience in 3 boutiques all located on Deck 6.

Meridian Bay features well known tax and duty free gift brands including Lladro, Swarovski and Zampiva to name a few. Fragrance and Cosmetics will be found at minimum savings of 15% off U.S. suggested retail prices.

Calypso Cove is a must shop for all of your cruise memories, Princess and Coral specific clothing, glassware and novelty items.

Facets Fine Jewelry is located at the entrance to the Princess Casino. On show you will find a wide range of exclusive and competitively priced fine jewelry. Princess Cruises offers a 5 year guarantee on all fine jewelry purchases onboard.

Princess Boutiques are always Tax and Duty Free so remember to stop by and take advantage of your duty free allowance.

Followed by a Tour of the Ship's Gallery.

FROM THE NAVIGATOR

Throughout the night, a southerly course was steered through the Hecate Strait (p.62). Around midday we will embark our two Canadian Pilots off Pine Island (319) and proceed towards Queen Charlotte Strait. During the afternoon, we will cruise the scenic water of Johnstone Strait (264-241) towards Seymour Narrows (205). The Narrows is an infamous stretch of water where the tidal stream is funneled through a 750 metre wide gap and currents can run at up to 16 knots at maximum flood. Therefore, our transit time of the narrows is as close to slack water as possible. Once clear of the narrows a south-easterly course will be set off the shores of Vancouver Island and through the Strait of Georgia. We will pass under the Lions Gate Bridge (p.42) at the entrance to Vancouver Harbour tomorrow morning before making fast alongside our berth at Canada Place. The numbers in bold indicate the Cruise Companion markers.

ALASKA CRUISE COMPANION

Today is southbound day seven in The Alaska Cruise Companion, see route maps on P. 54 & 58. Don't miss Seymour Narrows, Mile 205, late afternoon or early evening. See P. 52-53. See passenger tip about whales on P. 65. Of particular interest: Native Culture: P. 70-79, Orca Alert: P. 56-57, Northwest Tides on P. 47, and Joe's great story on P. 62. (Available from the Boutiques on Deck 6).

TRADITIONAL ENGLISH PUB LUNCHEON
